

Vinay MAHADIK

CEO/Co-Founder/co-CTO

Vinay's career is deeply-rooted in tech & scaling operations.

From being a security-research intern at Lawrence Berkeley National Labs & a vulnerability engineer at Qualys, to later running multiple product lines and research teams - including botnet research & application firewalls - as a senior R&D manager at McAfee, Vinay brings decades of experience in both engineering & business/operations management.

Vinay's leadership style incorporates (and inspires in his executive team) a high level of empathy, ability to triage effectively, dexterity in toggling effortlessly between a bird's eye and detailed view, decision even in the absence of perfect information, ability to reduce complex systems down to their fundamental components, and a deep dedication to Securly's core mission.

Vinay is listed as a primary inventor on several patents and holds an MBA from the Wharton School of Business.
