

Whole-student success starts here

Keep your students safe, well, and engaged with technology solutions developed specifically for K-12 schools

You want your students to succeed. We want to help.

When you work in education, you experience firsthand the difference that a safe, supportive, and engaging learning environment can make in a student's life. You're part of a community brought together around a common purpose, providing kids with the solid foundation they need to become who they're meant to be.

In today's technology-first and ever-changing world, you also face more challenges than ever before. You're tasked with helping kids navigate realities that most of us didn't need to worry about when we were their age. As the grown-ups responsible for their safety and wellbeing so much of the time, you carry a heavy responsibility.

But you don't need to carry it alone. Let Securly's comprehensive product platform and top-rated customer support team have your back.

You can rely on us to help you:

- Keep students safe online and at school
- Know how students are really doing and intervene when needed
- Help students stay focused and engaged in learning
- Support technology initiatives and decision making

“Students were going down the ‘YouTube rabbit hole’ during class. Implementing Securly is like giving teachers ‘tech eyes’ in the back of their heads. Now, they’re able to monitor students’ online activities to increase engagement and focus in the classroom.”

“A few days ago, I got a text that Securly had alerted one of our principals to a potential suicide. The principal called the mother, and the mother found a complete suicide plan at home. The student is in the ER as I type this, hopefully getting the treatment needed for healing. I have 16,000 more reasons why we use Securly sitting in our schools today.”
